

ICARD 2022 Now Virtual

Considering the ongoing uncertainties associated with international travels in next year, the organising committee in consultation with INAP have decided to announce the 12th ICARD as a fully virtual conference from 18 - 22 September 2022.

We had planned to host the conference in Brisbane, and while missing the opportunity of meeting everyone in person is less than ideal, we are hoping to maximise the opportunities that a virtual conference can offer through invited keynote presentations, technical talks, exhibitions, panel discussions, networking sessions and virtual site tours.

The Virtual ICARD 2022 will connect attendees to a much wider global network of professionals who are interested in the topic of acid and metalliferous drainage.

We thank everyone for their ongoing support and we look forward to continuing our work together.

Warmest regards,

Associate Professor Mansour Edraki

ICARD 2022 Conference Chair
